We live in serious times. "We the People" really have to step forward now. We are being clobbered by our main institutions in Washington, D.C..

I say this as a person born near the end of the Great Depression, and at the beginning of World War II, in a remote little farmhouse with no running water or indoor toilet. My only playmate until I was 3-years old was a pet dog. People were dying all around with diseases many people today have only heard about...

That began a life's journey which took me eventually, in the 1950s and '60s, from the rural backwardness of the racially segregated South to the cutting edge of "space-age technology," aboard nuclear submarines. One submarine had the capability of destroying an entire civilization with intercontinental missiles. My specialty back then was computers...

I have spent almost 30-years as an grassroots political advocate for jobs for all, with livable starting pay, and shorter workhours; for fair taxes; for quality, affordable healthcare for all; for quality, fully-funded, tuition-free public education—pre-school through PhD—with after-school childcare at the public schools... for ending homelessness, with affordable housing for all... for welfare rights for the elderly, the disabled, single-parent families, and for those having to fill the 7-to-12% "real" unemployment maintained by regular Federal Reserve central bank policy, for nuclear sanity, for protecting the environment, for peace from racial and gender equality and real democracy...

This effort needs you, everybody. JOIN ME! Vote Jim Brewer, U.S. Senate. Aloha.
